

Brandeis Class of 2002 10th Reunion Yearbook Bio

Full Name: Hannah Bornstein

Name at Brandeis: Hannah Johnson

PERSONAL UPDATE (Family, community activities, travel, etc.)

My husband, Sean, and I are parents to a beautiful baby girl, Aubrey. She was born January 10, 2011. She will be 17 months at the time of Reunion weekend. Since our last Reunion, Sean and I have been fortunate enough to take some amazing trips. We have visited Berlin, Prague, Munich, Vienna, Budapest, Dublin and other parts of Ireland.

PROFESSIONAL UPDATE (Profession? Achievements? Additional degrees? Big plans for the future?)

I graduated from Indiana University School of Law--Bloomington in 2007. After law school, I joined the litigation department of Ropes & Gray in their Boston office, where I worked until just a few months ago. In March of this year, I joined the Government Investigations & White Collar defense group at Nixon Peabody in their Boston office.

PROFESSIONAL UPDATE (Profession? Achievements? Additional degrees? Big plans for the future?)

10 years has brought a lot of twists and turns! I've got an MBA from Boston University, having concentrated my studies on social enterprise management and organizational development. Prior to that, I earned an MSW from the Smith College School for Social Work and treated diverse groups of youth and families across Massachusetts. These days I work as consultant at a cutting edge firm committed to helping organizations (across nonprofit, social enterprise, and government sectors) achieve large scale, sustainable social change. We partner with organizations aiming to eradicate social problems such as hunger, homelessness, and the literacy gap. I get to use all of my training and passion to partner with inspirational leaders to develop and implement bold strategic plans aimed at changing lives and building a better world. It's incredible!

If you could be on a reality TV show which one would it be?

I'm not quite sure I'd want to be. But I do have to say I've always loved the idea of being my own version of a cross between Oprah, Barbara Walters, Diane Sawyer, Ellen, and Rosie. I guess we'll just have to wait and see what surprises life still has in store!

If you could change one thing you did at Brandeis, what would it be?

What was the best concert you ever saw?

Oooo. Tough one. Tracey Chapman at the old Fleet Pavilion perhaps. Or Broza outdoors in Israel. Or Melissa Etheridge outdoors in Northampton, MA.

Brandeis Class of 2002 10th Reunion Yearbook Bio

Full Name: Jennifer M Jaynes

Name at Brandeis: Jennifer M Jaynes

PERSONAL UPDATE (Family, community activities, travel, etc.)

My husband Troy and I enjoy participating in the Society for Creative Anachronism, which was the Medieval Club at Brandeis. We especially love dancing, and have traveled to Toronto, Indiana, and Germany for dance events. Three years ago, a co-worker needed to find a new home for her two ferrets during an emergency move. Now we have four ferrets and they've taken over a room in our house.

Besides starting my own business, I have been learning German and American Sign Language.

PROFESSIONAL UPDATE (Profession? Achievements? Additional degrees? Big plans for the future?)

After Brandeis, I pursued my dream of becoming a professional massage therapist. While learning, I also practiced a western martial art that gave me all the sore muscles I could handle. I experienced for myself the relief that massage can bring to athletes, and now I bring the benefits of massage to athletes from weekend warriors to marathon runners.

If you could be on a reality TV show which one would it be?

If you could change one thing you did at Brandeis, what would it be?

What was the best concert you ever saw?

What is the thing that has changed most about you since graduation?

You know you have been out of college 10 years when:

When you tell people you went to Brandeis, they say...?

Wow, me too! Did you know Rachel?

Full Name: Jonathan Stern

Name at Brandeis: Jonathan Stern

PERSONAL UPDATE (Family, community activities, travel, etc.)

Since leaving Brandeis, I married Rebecca Smith (class of '03), moved to Brooklyn, adopted a small dog that looks like a fox, and watched Boston sports teams win and lose a bunch of championship games.

PROFESSIONAL UPDATE (Profession? Achievements? Additional degrees? Big plans for the future?)

The past decade was full of writing and editing magazines. When the world decided that print was dead, I became a digital strategist ... which is essentially writing and editing, but with more use for phrases like "customer relationship management" and "total number of impressions."

If you could be on a reality TV show which one would it be?

Chopped

If you could change one thing you did at Brandeis, what would it be?

Nothing that would come back to embarrass me ten years later.

What was the best concert you ever saw?

Flaming Lips and Wilco, New Years Eve 2004

What is the thing that has changed most about you since graduation?

I'm a more patient person. I also have frown lines.

You know you have been out of college 10 years when:

Hangovers are paralyzing.

When you tell people you went to Brandeis, they say...?

So, you're really Jewish aren't you?

Favorite party story:

The mod party where I saw my wife for the first time.

Favorite Waltham memory:

Taking the commuter rail to Boston.

Favorite course:

Nabokov

Favorite professor:

Andrew Swensen

Favorite Brandeis activity:

I saw enough a capella to last two lifetimes.

Favorite dorm:

The double I had to myself in the secret annex of Schwartz.

Best Brandeis memory:

See favorite party story.

Most embarrassing Brandeis memory:

So, who is going to be at this reunion?

Favorite weekend activity:

Drinking. Waking up in Somerville.

Best freshman hall memory:

Our weekly jam sessions with the incomparable RA Brenna Carney.

Greatest dorm prank:

Something involving nudity

Number of times you had to call BEMCO?

Once. Put a piece of broken glass through my foot.

Which was the grossest dorm?

Grad. But the gulag-chic may have been intentional.

Feel free to use additional pages to add anything else you'd like to share.

I think we're good.

Brandeis Class of 2002 10th Reunion Yearbook Bio

Full Name: Alexander C. Friedman

Name at Brandeis: Lex Friedman

PERSONAL UPDATE (Family, community activities, travel, etc.)

I married Lauren Krutzel '02. We have three lovely children: Anya (5), Sierra (3), and Liam (1). We live in New Jersey with solar panels on our roof and a minivan in the garage.

PROFESSIONAL UPDATE (Profession? Achievements? Additional degrees? Big plans for the future?)

I worked for the parent company of MySpace (back when it was cool). I then co-founded a startup called The Daily Plate; it was later sold to Demand Media as part of livestrong.com. I served as Demand's Senior Director of Product and Community. Then I shifted careers, and now work as a Staff Writer for Macworld. I also co-authored The Snuggie Sutra, wrote a book on iTunes Match, and my next humor book is due out in the fall.

If you could be on a reality TV show which one would it be?

Queer Eye

If you could change one thing you did at Brandeis, what would it be?

I wish I'd done the Creative Writing program.

What was the best concert you ever saw?

They Might Be Giants

What is the thing that has changed most about you since graduation?

My number of children

You know you have been out of college 10 years when:

You get your ten year reminder notices in your inbox, Facebook feed, and mailbox. Endlessly.
